The Poplar Head Farmers Market was visited by hundreds of locals looking for fresh from the farm produce. Shoppers had the opportunity to meet the farmers who grow the local produce. The market was open every Saturday in June and July from 8am until noon and provided a variety of activities for families. The Market was located on the grounds of The Wiregrass Museum of Art and the Civic Center Parking Lot. Each Saturday the Museum hosted a tent where children could enjoy creative art projects. Houston Love Memorial Library provided a reading area where children could learn about the local agricultural community. Not only could you shop the Market had some form of entertainment which included music and cooking demonstrations by a local chef. Following this year's success the Market will reopen the first Saturday in June of 2010.
